HAS TIRED OF BRYANISM.

Judge M. B. Nicholson, Long a Fusion Leader in Kansas, Will Vote For McKinley.

Judge M. B. Nicholson, of Council Grove, for many years one of the fusion leaders of the state, and who has frequently been mentioned by the fusionists as a candidate for associate justice, has tired of Bryanism and "the haul down the flag" policy of the fusion party in the state and nation. He proposes to vote for McKinley this year. His declamations regarding the matter will no doubt cause much commotion among the fusionists on account of the prominence he occupied in their party.

"I propose to vote for McKinley this fall, if I live so long as that," said the judge. "I have grown weary of the course that is being pursued by the opponents of McKinley, in fact, I have been getting more and more weary ever since the Spanish-American war broke out. I wasn't much in favor of getting into that war. I thought it might have been avoided, but we got into it and from that time there was no course for a loyal man to pursue except to sustain his country. My boy enlisted and while I hated to see him go, I did not try to dissuade him. Before the war commenced, the opposition, that is our party, were doing their best to drive McKinley into it, ready or not ready. McKinley was doing his best to prevent a war, and I honor him for it. It was the right thing, the patriotic, the humane, the statesmanlike course to take. As soon as war was declared the very people who had been howling at McKinley for not commencing sooner began to abuse the administration because there was some sickness and lack of equipment among the troops. They never missed an opportunity to abuse McKinley and his administration, although there never has been an army of 250,000 men got together and equipped under the same circumstances in the same length of time. It was simply wonderful that the government of the United States was able to do it. Since the war commenced, everything else has followed as a natural and logical sequence, but the Democratic managers have done nothing but kick, kick, kick. There has never been a time since Dewey sailed into Manila bay that our government could have let go of the Philippine islands with consistency and honor. We destroyed the only government there was in the islands and we were in duty bound to supply a government in the place of the one we had destroyed. To say nothing about military or commercial consideration, it would be an unchristianlike act, a cruel act, a contemptible act, for the United States to withdraw our troops now. It would leave the natives who have been friendly to us at the mercy of a banditti whose only idea and purpose would be to revenge and plunder. McKinley has been right in his course in the Philippines. He was right all the way through the war with Spain and I propose to support him. I am an expansionist all over. There is neither patriotism nor common sense in the course the Democrats are pursuing now and I don't propose to stay with them."—K. C. Journal.

WHEN DEWEY RUNS.

[Horton has developed a new poet. This is his first and last production.]

When Mrs. Dewey's husband runs for president.

T'will be when William Bryan's lungs are badly rent.

T'will be when he stops working his abnormal jaw; Then things will go republican down in Arkansas.

As hero of Manila, George is quite a man; As presidential timber, he ain't worth a dam. McKinley will be admiral of this ship of state.

While George will only be Mrs. Dewey's second mate.

—Horton Headlight.

Our Populist readers and we have lots of them should read the following and ask themselves if this is not a true statement. It is taken from the Jewell Republican:

If there is an honest Populist in Jewell county, and there are hundreds of them, we want to ask him if the basis of his opposition to Republicanism four years ago was not the hard times and the difficulty he had in getting along? Low prices and the armies of unemployed and general conditions of gloom and depression were the sum and substance of all his talk and all his argument. These things have all passed away, contrary to every prediction of Mr. Bryan and all his satellites. There are a great many men who left the Republican party for the reason we have mentioned. These reasons do not now exist. The Populist leaders simply fooled them by blaming the Republicans for things that the Republicans being out of power, were not to blame for. The Populists and Democrats are now trying to trump up a lot of new issues to fool them again. They cannot make the calamity issue work now, they always have something new that they can whip up for one campaign, then drop it and start something else. Isn't that your experience with Populism? Just run your mind back over the fool things they have advocated in the past ten years—no two years the same, and see if it doesn't make you laugh. How would Mrs. Lease's frantic speech strike you now? Hunt up the old Alliance platforms see if they don't read like a joke. At last after denouncing the old parties a hundred times and resolving to keep in the middle of the road, they finally let the Democratic swallow and assimilate their national organization. On the other hand the Republican party has boldly grappled with some of the greatest issues that any country has had to deal with, an onlooking world says it has dealt with them in a comprehensive and statesmanlike manner; and the best of all, good times, fair prices, better wages, more money, lower interest and all its accompanying train of happiness, has blessed the land. These things came once before when Harrison was president but fled away when the people voted for a change. They have come under McKinley's administration and the people are now called on once more to say whether they want it and vote for it. Under our form of government people can have most anything they want.

We should think the Populists would get discouraged. They claimed that it was the India famine that caused the raise in prices instead of the election of McKinley. Now here comes along another India famine just as we are entering another presidential campaign, which according to pop reasoning will still hold prices up. But anyhow, don't it beat the world how things happen when Republicans get in power to make times good. It was the same way with the Harrison administration. Maybe the Republican party is just simply lucky. And by the way had we not better keep in power a lucky party, than to turn the business over to a party that will hobo the nation?—Goodland News.

Come to us for job work.

Did it ever occur to you that Wm. J. Bryan, "The idol of the people," has not done a day's work in years, and has not earned a dollar since you knew him? He poses as a friend of the laboring man, and yet all this time has been living in luxury off the dollar he has been taking from the pockets of the laboring man. He hasn't even held an office for a long time, and when he did he left it a poor man. Now he is wealthy in spite of the fact that his expenses must be enormous. Who has contributed the money to make up that wealth? The man who works honestly and had to earn it. He gave to Bryan in order that he may hear him say the giver is a hopeless slave, and in the grasp of the octopus. A great many men have given more to Bryan than to the octopus. But some are infatuated with him as badly as some men become infatuated with women. They resent criticism and appear to think that their idol is above and beyond mistake and error. The Democratic party talked and acted the same way about Cleveland. Now nothing is too mean for them to say of him. A new king has been enthroned, and who works not neither does he spin, and yet he rakes in the dollars of the working men until his purse is full to overflowing, and his bank account is written in black ink with many figures. The fact is Wm. J. Bryan is "working" the Democratic party of this country, and they either do not know it, or are so overwhelmed by their infatuation that they do not care if he does. But William Jennings Bryan must beware of the awakening.—Lawrence Journal.

Here is a vigorous kick from Bent Murdock in the Eldorado Republican: "If the supreme court of the United States would decide that it is constitutional to shoot every publisher who prints the picture of a woman in which she is made to look like a fish worm, it would be doing good service to the human race. According to these pictures and there are millions of them printed every day a woman to be 'in fashion' must have the shape of an angle-worm; and hundreds of thousands of young women, in their efforts to look fashionable, wear corsets that force the stomach down upon their bowels, their bowels upon their reproductive organs, thus not only destroying their own lives, but the lives of any children they may possibly have; or, if not destroy them at least filling the world with nervous, scrawny imbecile generation that is no credit or a benefit to anyone. If the women of this country would spend less time chasing the ballot and more time in an honest effort to redeem womankind from the thrall of corsets and fashion plates, and in instituting a crusade against all the life destroying devices resorted to by both men and women to be fashionable, the Lord would be happy to put a lot more jewels in their crowns."

Pessimistic people get awfully alarmed every time the American people in a spasm of sentimental enthusiasm, pay unusual honors to some hero of the hour. They think the ship of state is about to be wrecked on the rock of hero worship. But after all, hero worship in this country is not a very dangerous thing. It is very frothy effervescent. A man may be idolized today and spurned like a cold potato tomorrow. There was Hobson, for instance, who went up like a sky rocket and came down like a frog. And there is poor Dewey. Your American hero must have a mighty level head to walk the steps of American glory. If he gets gay for even a moment he is liable to tumble into the abyss of oblivion. This country is in no danger from hero worship. But the heroes are in constant danger.—Marion Record.

Some of the papers complain because they say Governor Stanley visits the state institutions and pays his expenses out of his contingent fund, while others assert that he pays his own expenses. If the governor visits the institutions for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are being properly conducted or not, and where he finds abuses takes prompt steps to apply the remedy, there can be no good reason why he should pay his own expenses. In fact, it is difficult to see how his contingent fund could be put to better use.—Gaylord Herald.

Whether Governor Stanley ought to pay his expenses out of the contingent fund or ought not, makes no difference in this case. The fact is, he has paid them out of his own pocket while making his tour of investigation. The further fact remains that the governor has never made a trip of any character since he has been governor in which the expenses have been paid by the state.—Ottawa Herald.
